

FLYINGBEE INVESTMENT FUND

August 2026

CONCEPT OF ALTERNATIVE INVESTMENT FUND

- An Alternative Investment Fund (AIF) is a privately pooled investment vehicle that collects funds from investors, both Indian and foreign, where collective investments are made into different nontraditional investment options.
- Unlike PMS, where investors hold securities directly in their own demat accounts, AIF investors are allotted units of the fund, which are reflected in their demat accounts.

AIFs are classified into three categories:

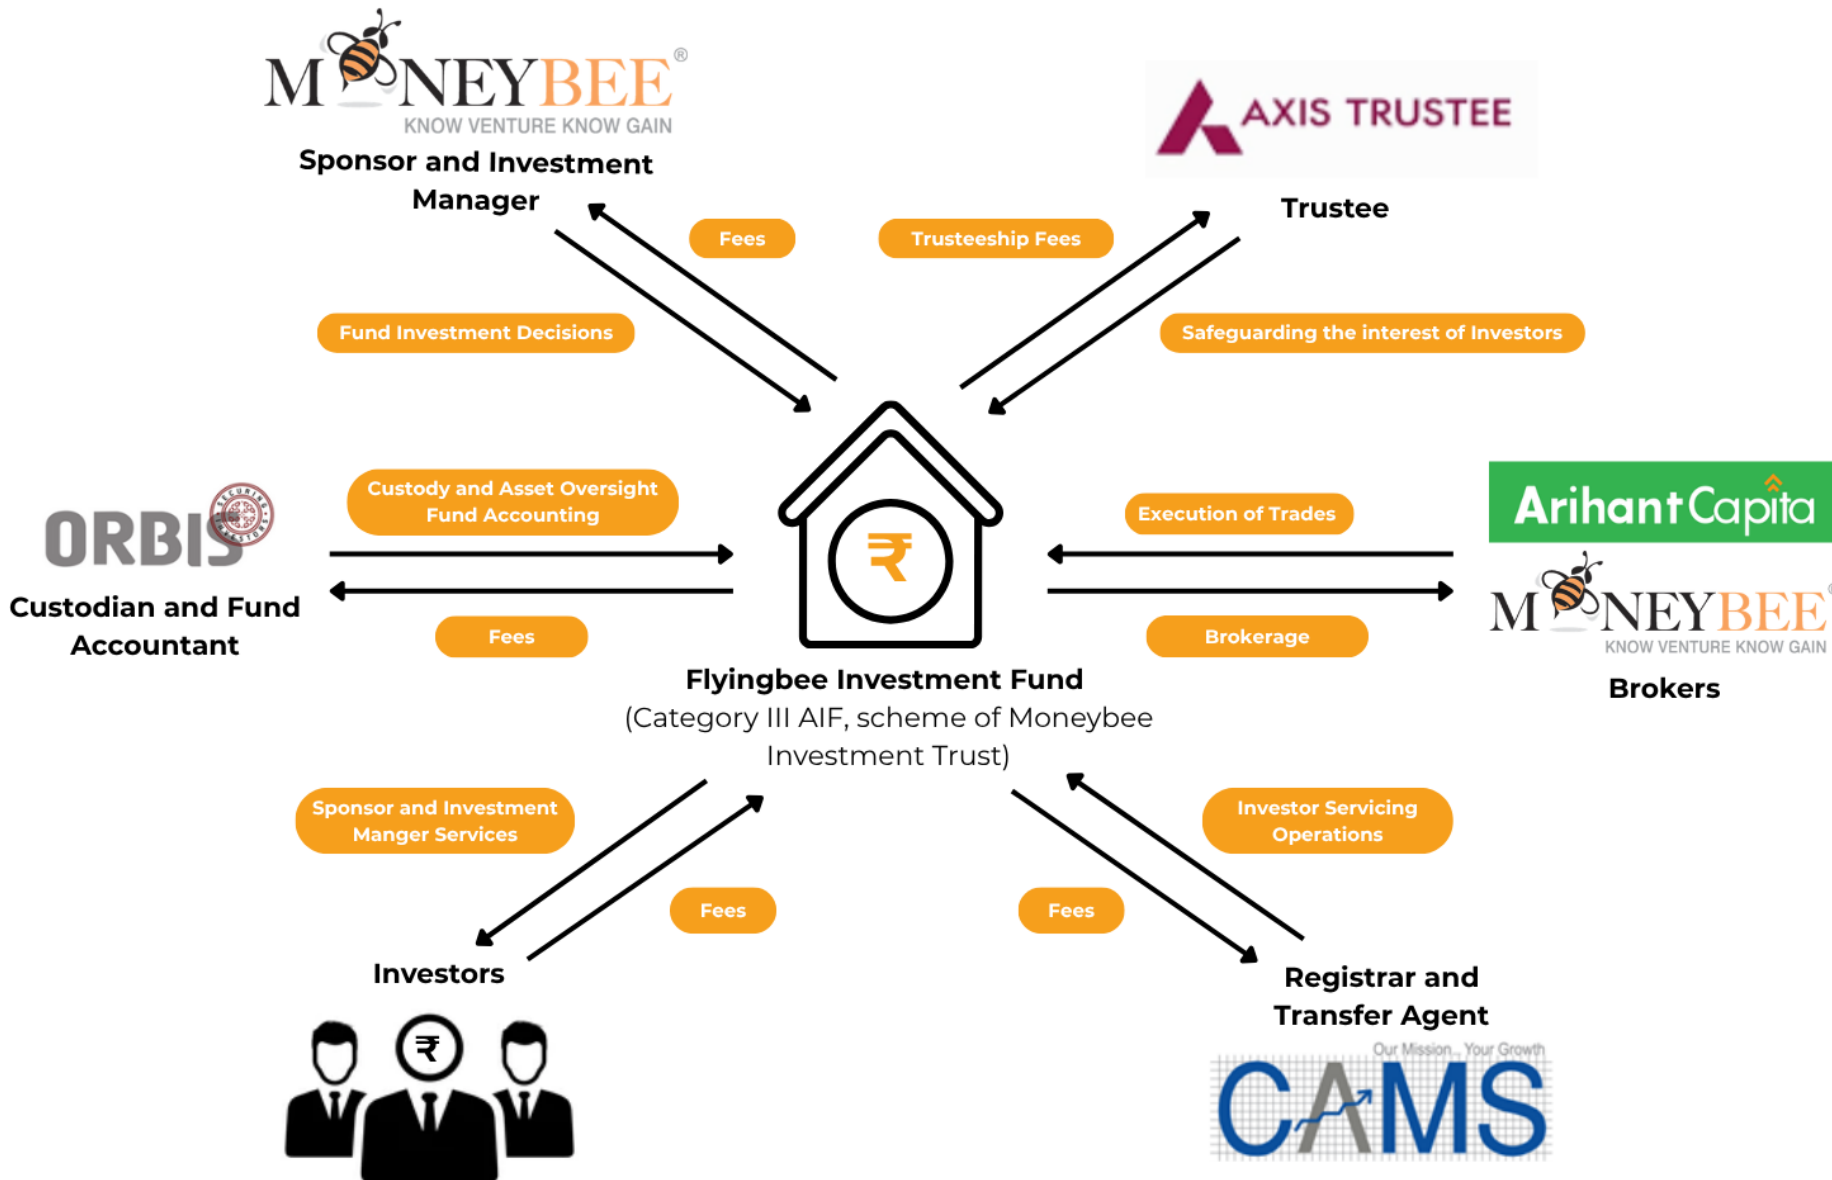

Feature	Cat I AIF	Cat II AIF	Cat III AIF
Strategy Focus	Impact sectors, early-stage ventures, startups	Private equity, real estate, debt	Long-term, dynamic portfolio
Leverage	Not allowed	Not allowed	Permitted strategically
Asset Class Coverage	Limited	Min 50% investment to be made in unlisted entities	Min 51% investment to be made in listed entities
Taxation	Pass Through Status	Pass Through Status	At Fund level
Type of Scheme	Close Ended – Min 3 years tenure	Close Ended – Min 3 years tenure	Open Ended

We have therefore opted to set up Flyingbee Investment Fund as a Category III AIF

RISK MANAGEMENT FRAMEWORK

Valuation Risk

The risk of buying stocks without adequate margin of safety. Reasonable valuation is the corner stone of all our investment decision

Market Risk

This typically arises from certain fundamental economic conditions or events in the economy or industry. The best way to manage market risk is by being patient.

Liquidity Risk

There is no active market for unlisted shares and exits often depend on IPOs, buybacks, or strategic sales. Have a pre-defined exit strategy to minimize liquidity risk.

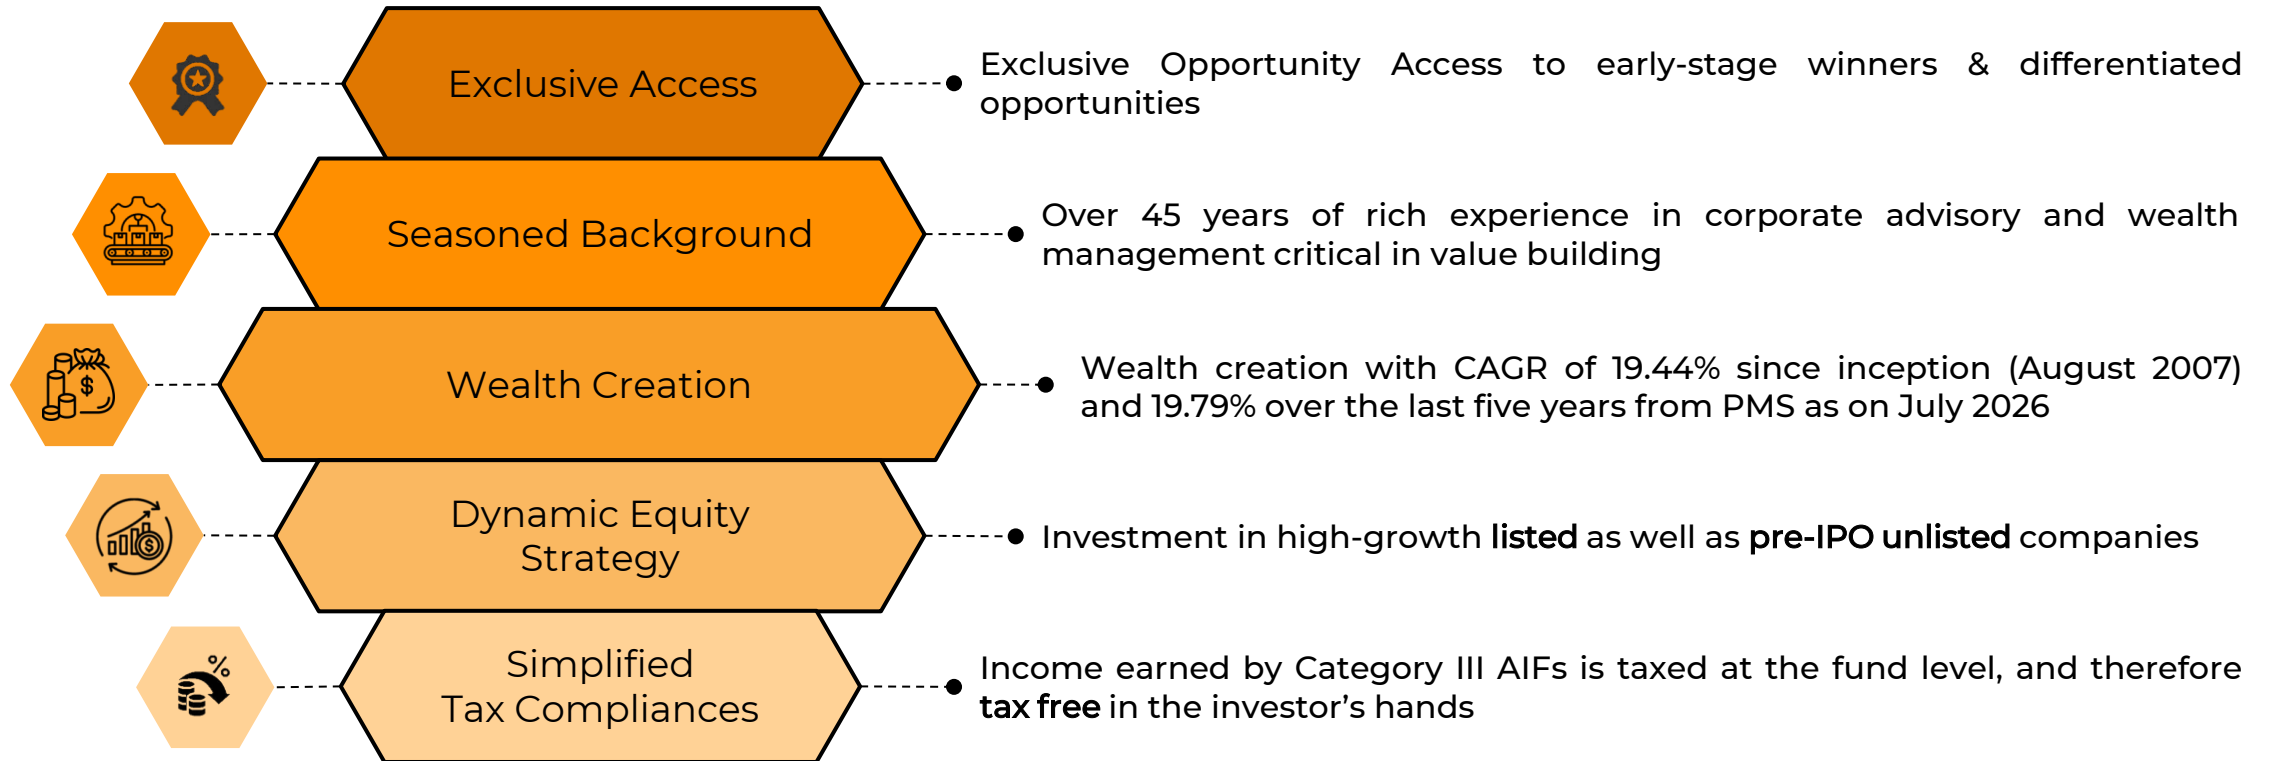

Invest in listed companies with sufficient trading volumes to ensure the ability to enter and exit positions without significantly impacting the stock price.

Concentration Risk

Endeavor to have adequately diversified portfolio across sectors and stocks. A maximum exposure limit to any single stock will be set to ensure diversification and mitigate concentration risk.
